
Rotating tongues

Elisabeth Brauner

.a project in far outer space

where gravity is produced by rotation.

.a project in outer space

where the visualization of motion becomes immanent.

.a project in space

where the spatial experience is based on a technique that comprehends motion as a visual effect.

.a project

where two rotating solids generate moments of proximity and distance.

.

where the absence of a fix horizon implies the quest for a new frame of reference.